SPONSORED BY:

The Orgreave Truth and Justice Campaign are campaigning for a full and independent inquiry into policing and state involvement at the Orgreave coking plant during the 1984/5 year-long Miners' Strike. We want to ensure the true narrative of what happened at Orgreave and throughout the year-long strike is finally placed in the public domain.

STEVE IGNORANT'S SLICE OF LIFE is a band with the songs in an acoustic setting of: piano, acoustic guitar and upright bass. Their compelling sound opens both heart and soul when reflecting on life and then reminds us just why we should never give up on this world or on each other.

MARK THOMAS is an award-winning performer, writer and activist. Performing for 37 years he is described as "one of the oldest surviving alternative comics and the current godfather of political comedy".

FEROCIOUS DOG are a band that deal in a vibrant vein of Celtic-folk-infused punk rock. Their broad spectrum of influences are tied together by their left-leaning convictions and shared desire to communicate through music.

JOE SOLO is an award-winning musician, writer, poet, activist, broadcaster and washing machine engineer from Scarborough. From lynchpin of pop-punk upstarts to hammering out his unique brand of Folk, Punk and Blues.

JESS SILK is a guitarist, singer and songwriter from the Black Country. Her shouty but melodic brand of folk/punk music gets people sitting up and listening.

ANY OLD IRON have been described as "A blood-bath excursion into garage punk and grunge." Expect blistering guitars, songs about dead people and a brilliant rhythm section.

KATE FOX is a stand-up poet and Poet in Residence for the Glastonbury Festival, Great North Run and Radio 4's Saturday Live. Author of "Where There's Muck There's Bras: Stories of Amazing Northern Women".

SAM BROWSE is a London (formerly Sheffield) singer/songwriter and multi-instrumentalist. A longtime supporter of the Orgreave Truth and Justice Campaign, he sings folk and protest songs.
